Introduction

This workbook is a call to action. Reading Real Tarot was your first step to developing your Tarot reading skills. Now it's time to get even more accomplished. Regardless of how much information from the e-book your mind has absorbed and understood, it takes practical application to become an effective Tarot reader. Most people forget much of what they read, but they remember most of what they physically do. So, think of this workbook as a home study course where Tarot theory is put into practice to allow you to develop your Tarot skills. The following questions and exercises will help you become a master of Tarot.

In these pages you will find visualizations, hands-on activities, useful exercises, and space to record your thoughts and feelings as you study the Tarot cards. If you make the time to become fully immersed in the process of learning Tarot through this workbook, by writing down your thoughts and ideas during this process, you will greatly enhance your knowledge of Tarot.

This is an opportunity to gain knowledge about Tarot through a balance of analytical and intuitive means. The workbook also provides the circumstances for learning more about yourself and your relationship to the cards. Self-evaluation can result in a deeper connection to the images on the cards, thereby personalising the Tarot. Instead of being taught how to read Tarot, you will be able to use this workbook as a resource through which you can teach Tarot to yourself, bringing about a highly meaningful learning experience. To truly understand this process, you must devote time each week to doing the exercises. Don't just read through them—actively participate in the tasks that have been set out for you.

Print out this workbook and follow the instructions that have been carefully devised to reveal the wisdom of the Tarot. If you have a friend who also wants to learn about Tarot, make a pact to meet once a week to do these exercises together. Mutual support can be incredibly helpful as a way of keeping your motivation and enthusiasm alive.

Work your way through these exercises as many times as you want. You will be surprised at how much your understanding of the cards evolves as time goes on. Journeying through the Tarot in this way will personalise your comprehension of card meanings, bringing greater clarity and understanding to your readings.

The Basics

Based on the information found in the Introduction and Chapter One of Real Tarot, answer the following questions or fill in the details required.

Do you have to be psychic to read Tarot cards?

Tarot cards are full of symbolic images. Which part of your mind understands ‘the secret language’ of symbols?

Why are symbols a more effective way to express ideas than words?

List some of the possible uses for Tarot card readings.

A standard Tarot deck is composed of two sections. What are they called?

The Major Arcana are the ‘trump cards’ of the Tarot. What areas of life do they represent?

The Minor Arcana are the ‘pip’ cards of the Tarot. What areas of life do they represent?

What are the four suits of the Tarot?

Name the Court cards that can be found in a Tarot suit.

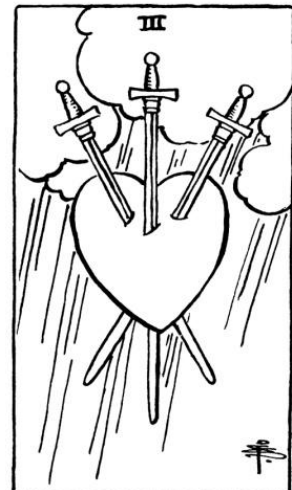

When and where was the Tarot created?

List your first impressions of the following cards. Trust your intuition and make notes about the first thoughts and feelings that come to you.

The Three of Cups means:

The Three of Swords means:

The Four of Wands means:

The Five of Wands means:

The Knight of Swords means:

The Sun means:

Compare your first impressions of the cards shown above with some examples of the traditional interpretations, listed below.

Three of Cups: Merriment, satisfaction, fulfilment, vitality, happiness, celebration.

Three of Swords: Heartbreak, sadness, arguments within a relationship, frustration, loss, grief, and maybe physical heart problems.

Four of Wands: Success, partying, prosperity, harmony, celebration, family, friends, and the idyllic country life.

Five of Wands: Conflict, competition, confusion, arguments, recklessness.

Knight of Swords: Activity, excitement, enthusiasm, eagerness, bravery, impulsiveness.

The Sun: Cheerfulness, pleasure, good health, simplicity, optimism, joy.

I'm sure that you found your intuitive responses to the images to be similar to the traditional meanings attributed to these cards. From this brief exercise, you have now shown yourself how easy it is to interpret Tarot cards. When you learn more about the qualities of each suit, it becomes even easier to do readings.

Tarot Truth

The answers to the following questions can be found in Chapters Two and Three of Real Tarot.

When you are doing a Tarot reading, which part of your mind chooses the cards for the Tarot spread?

What does the term 'archetypal' mean?

Is Tarot an art or a science?

List some examples that suggest the interconnectedness of the universe.

Who claimed Tarot cards originated in Egypt? Was he right?

Which Hindustani deity was the basis for the myth that Tarot originated in India?

Could the Knights Templar have brought the Tarot to Europe during the crusades? If not, why not?

Did the Gypsies bring Tarot to Europe?

In which country, and in which year, was Tarot first developed?

What were the first suits of the Tarot called?

Was original Tarot based upon Christian imagery and allegories?

How should you obtain your first deck of Tarot cards?

Do Tarot cards need to be wrapped in silk, or kept in a wooden box?

Why do some people claim that cards need to be protected in this way?

Can you allow other people to handle your Tarot cards?

Draw some conclusions for yourself about the advantages and disadvantages of learning the meanings of 'reversed' cards.

Is it ethical to take money for Tarot readings? Why, or why not?

The Future and the Influence of Action Cards

When an outcome or future event is indicated in a reading, the interpretation shows the potential for it to manifest. The future is fluid and Tarot reveals some of the possible outcomes. We can then make plans to accept that future, or to avoid it.

In a Tarot reading, if you were told to expect a change of career during July, what type of energy might be surrounding you during that month?

In a Tarot spread, what circumstances is the possible outcome based upon?

What technique can you use to avoid an outcome shown in a reading?

During a reading, if you see success as the outcome, why would you still pick an action card?

The Major Arcana Cards

The Fool - Card 0

Look at the card called The Fool and write down your answers to the following questions:

First impressions: What thoughts and feelings do you have when you look at The Fool?

A description of the scene: What is The Fool doing in this image? Describe his actions.

Up, down, around: Imagine that you are The Fool, standing on top of a mountain ridge. Look up, down and around you. From this viewpoint within the card, describe the surrounding landscape—even beyond the borders of the card.

Your other senses: Using your other senses, describe your surroundings based on what you can hear, taste, touch, and smell.

Feelings: While imagining that you are The Fool, what is your mood at this time?

Out on a limb: Imagine that The Fool is standing in his surroundings as a result of a bizarre sequence of events—what strange set of circumstances could have brought him to this place?

The meaning within a reading: From Chapter 6 of Real Tarot, choose some words that you think are appropriate meanings for The Fool when this card turns up in a reading. Include interpretations that intuitively come to mind when looking at this image.

The spiritual interpretation: When this card turns up in a reading about spiritual matters, which meanings from Real Tarot seem to be appropriate for The Fool? Include meanings that intuitively come to mind when looking at this image.

Personal development: If The Fool represents yourself, what do you think the card tells you about your present state of being?

Personal transformation: If you drew the energy of this card into yourself, what areas do you think it could help you to improve?

Behaviour: When have you been like The Fool?

The Fool and your friends/acquaintances: Who do you know that behaves like The Fool?

Symbols: Use Internet resources or a dream dictionary to look up some of the images on the card and write down the interpretations that seem appropriate for The Fool. For example, find interpretations for: the white rose, mountains, bag, sun, dog, feather, and laurel wreath.

Colours: What are the main colours on this card? Why do you think they were used in this image?
